

MATT VUKOS IS SET TO RELEASE HIS SECOND SINGLE WITH BILGÉ

Up and coming Berlin based producer Matt Vukos who is slowly surpassing the label of 'jazz producer' and entering 'pop producer' territory is set to release his second single with Turkish singer Bilgé "Stay The Night" on January 22.

On "Stay The Night" Matt helps bring out Bilgé's sensitive character with modern production and groovy guitar riffs that take you back to the 70s. In fact, the song has an all-encompassing timelessness to it. It's the sort of song that could work anywhere from your favorite beach bar to your morning commute to work.

Bilgé who is known for her messages on current issues in our society, relationships and life sings about a toxic relationship in which the guy is cheating but the girl chooses to stay. The two of them previously worked on her debut single Smoke In The Air which was met with nothing but warm reception. And with both Matt Vukos and Bilgé finding inspiration in sentimental artists like The Weeknd, Tame Impala, Ariana Grande and Frank Ocean the collaboration doesn't come as a surprise.

Matt Vukos who previously produced two singles for folktronica jazz duo Jan & Jannike recently decided to move on from jazz to pop music after finding much appeal working in the genre. When asking Matt about why he chose pop music, he said: "What I love about pop music is that there is often no pretentiousness nor is there an overly intellectual creative approach. The goal is simply for the music to sound good and be accessible to the listener". And it is without any doubt that Stay The Night meets the criteria of what a good pop song should sound like.

Stay The Night will be available on all streaming platforms including on www.mattvukos.com and www.bilgesmusic.com on January 22.
